```
[root@localhost 11249A180]# touch index.txt [root@localhost 11249A180]# echo "Operating system  is a system software that acts as a interface between the user a nd computer.
> it manages the CPU, memory, and storage , input/output devices" > index.txt [root@localhost 11249A180]# cat index.txt
Operating system  is a system software that acts as a interface between the user and computer.
it manages the CPU, memory, and storage , input/output devices [root@localhost 11249A180]# more index.txt
Operating system  is a system software that acts as a interface between the user and computer.
it manages the CPU, memory, and storage , input/output devices [root@localhost 11249A180]# less index.txt
Operating system  is a system software that acts as a interface between the user and computer.
it manages the CPU, memory, and storage , input/output devices [root@localhost 11249A180]# grep "CPU" index.txt
it manages the CPU, memory, and storage , input/output devices [root@localhost 11249A180]# sort index.txt
it manages the CPU, memory, and storage , input/output devices
Operating system  is a system software that acts as a interface between the user and computer.
[root@localhost 11249A180]# wc index.txt
  2  26 158 index.txt [root@localhost 11249A180]# awk index.txt awk: cmd. line:1: index.txt awk: cmd. line:1:      ^ syntax error [root@localhost 11249A180]#
```